SPILT PAINT

Melted Sherb X Runtz

A stable structure with a little more leaf in some phenotypes, but the combination her and the Runtz in finished flower is unbelievable and will be the first jar you empty. The buds have tons of bag appeal glistening with frost and really put on weight near maturity. The quality of flower is so good across all phenotypes that the biggest consideration the grower should make on selection is length of flower time. While some will finish in about 9 weeks you should expect others to need a full 10 weeks plus a couple days, so make a selection that suits your timelines.
